Rt. 1, P.O.M., His grandmother,
Mrs. M. T. Branch, lives at 129
Davidson, Bemis.

Dear Sirs,

I have been a patient of Lakeland Lodge for a month. I wish everyone who is dreading old age could see and understand what a wonderful, useful home this is.

The staff of nurses and kitchen workers are first class. The food is delicious and the nurses give the elderly, who are helpless special attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray are most kind and help in any way to make things pleasant. They had two Christmas trees and everyone received a present. We have Sunday School every Sunday and a singing.

I am so comfortable and contented. I wish people could see and learn what this home can be. God bless this nursing home and may it never close. It is the greatest thing that ever happened to Heber Springs.

Dear Norman and Mrs. Gray:

It has been our pleasure and good experience to have had your business association and friendship during your ownership and management of Lakeland Lodge. LET'S CHAT

Concord, Arkansas

Concord, Ark., is a small community between Batesville and Heber Springs.

The people of this community have an unusual way of life.

They live in an old-fashioned style, but still have a touch of updated style. The people here live in almost seclusion, but in their own little way.

Like all cities, they have their crime and jobless people and hard times. But they still have their farmers, their mills and two stores, a game room hooked to a small country restaurant, and even a laundry.

But somehow it isn't the look of the town that bring your memories back, but the people in this community itself.

This community is made of about 300 people and a lot of strength and determination, a lot of what America was made of. When you come into Concord the first thought is another dying town. But this town continues to build and keep hopes strong.

This little town should have died out 100 years ago with all the others that have come and gone. But their strength and love for this town has brought out the determination in this community's people.

With so very little to do here, you find your time is plenty and you have time to enjoy this beautiful land of ours. Even the young start to appreciate what they have in nature.

But still again most of the people here are very unique and the businesses here can take you back to the past — when the storeowners ground their meats fresh for you and some still delivered and a cafe knew the value of a dollar, where you got more than you paid for. And a mayor didn't hide from the people in his community but came to help in times of need, no matter how little or how big the job was.

So if you find yourself in need, to find what you need just take a walk and enjoy. That's what Concord, Ark., is made of, the American way of life.

So when you hear the worst of us just take in consideration, don't shake it before you try it. You may find yourself coming back.
